

Display Shelf

Problem Solving, Planning, Teamwork, Communication and Performance Management are key learning points in this training activity.

Teams have 14 pieces of shelving with grooves cut in various places which enable them to fit together and make up a display shelf.

They have up to 60 minutes to develop a method of assembly that can produce a finished display shelf in less than 30 seconds.

This seems easy enough, particularly as they have a diagram showing the completed display shelf.

At the end of 60 minutes effective teams will have learnt from their experience and will have a chance to build their display shelf within 30 seconds.

Teams find it very difficult, but through planning and effective teamwork it has been done in 15 seconds!

This activity highlights the importance of individual contributions to group task achievement. It is also very effective for drawing out the characteristics of effective management and leadership.

Key points

The focus of display shelf is on developing teamwork, but this exercise also brings out these useful training areas:

- Problem solving
- Planning
- Teamwork
- Time Management
- Communication
- Project Management
- Leadership
- Performance Improvement

Contents

14 piece set planks with Trainer's Guide and Team Briefing Sheets for each of the various options of running the activity.

Display Shelf

Display shelf is also known as 'Planks', 'Gridlock', 'Perplexity', 'Shelving', 'Cycle Time' and 'Interlocker.' Our version is made from plastic which is lighter, cleaner and cheaper to produce. This means that we have reduced the cost to buy and deliver the activity. Our trainers guide also gives you four variations of the activity to choose from.

If you think this is easy - you try it. There is a lot to learn from this!
